

Introduction to Gandhi Fellowship

Gandhi Fellowship Program is one of the four CSR initiatives run by the Piramal group. It is partnered with Kaivalya Education Foundation and organizations including: Michael & Susan Dell Foundation, UNICEF, USAID, State Government of Rajasthan, Ashoka India, Echoing Green, Harvard University, New York University, IIM-Ahmedabad and more.

Gandhi Fellowship was started thinking that India today faces a major crunch of leaders in every domain. The top minds of the top colleges in our country are running after personal success without thinking about the society. The Fellowship aims to guide talented youth to actively engage with solving the myriad problems plaguing the country and our world today. With this goal, Gandhi Fellowship creates a genre of nation builders having gone through the 2 years leadership curriculum.

The Fellowship is an intensive 2-year residential program that helps talented young people develop the leadership skills necessary to cause disproportionate positive change in the society. The Fellowship challenges these young people to support primary school headmasters to transform their schools. In the process, Fellows discover what they want to do with their own lives and how to go about converting their ideas into reality.

The fellowship is conceptualized in a manner where a fellow goes through an outer as well as an inner journey of change.

Outer Journey:

The fellow manages 5 Government Schools - 5 Headmasters, 50 Teachers, 500 Children and the community, with the objective of bringing about sustainable and visible development of both: public school systems and the quality of learning.

Inner Journey:

The deeper change is however something that happens within the fellows. The program is designed for the youth of the country to systematically build the competencies of a leader and provide them with a framework, which supports grass-root experiential learning. This helps them to deepen their knowledge of the existing systems and challenge their abilities to find solutions to the real life problems and bring forth their own rigor, perseverance and leading change.

Support we offer

From the batch of 2016, Gandhi Fellowship is also launching an exclusive Social Incubation & Enterprises Program. This program will support aspiring social entrepreneurs through special idea incubation, business mentor-ship and start-up funding support up to Rs 20 lakh after successful completion of the fellowship program.

The program has a ten-year vision for fellows. This Residential Program develops leadership competencies of fellows for 2 years and beyond that there is Alumni Support for 8 years which caters to the needs of the alumnus on their career (Career Guidance and Management Services).

Apart from the monthly stipend of Rs. 14,000 (divided in two halves), the fellows are given a mobile allowance, Two wheeler and fuel, tablets/laptops with an internet connection, city allowance (if applicable) and accommodation are also borne by the organization.
